This volume collects essays from an international body of leading scholars in Old Testament studies focused upon the key concepts of the question of historicity of biblical stories, the archaeology of Israel/Palestine during the Bronze and Iron Ages and the nature of biblical narratives and related literature as a celebration of the extensive body of Thomas L. Thompson's work. These essays enable a threefold perspective on biblical narratives beginning with method. The contributors discuss archaeology, cultural memory, epistemology, and sociology of knowledge before moving to history, historiography, and archaeology and close analysis of the Qumran writings, Josephus, and biblical rewritings. Finally, the argument turns to the narratives themselves, exploring topics including the possibility of invented myth, the genre of Judges, and the depiction of Moses in the Qur'an. Presenting an interdisciplinary analysis of the historical issues concerning ancient Israel/Palestine, this volume creates an updated body of reference to fifty years worth of scholarship.

In-depth discussions of key productions reveal processes adapted by companies for their performances. This book features first-hand interviews with professional artists, case studies of individual performances, a practical workshop section with innovative exercises.
